Dear Joseph Schneider,

Have you nothing better to do with your time than give an old man hell for what he had nothing to do with and for trying to do you a favor?

If I did not tell you the index was uncorrected and unproofed you have to be the only one.

I had nothing to do with the index and nothing to do with its omission. I've had no explanation and I've asked for one.

I believe that after I went over the proofs they eliminated two pages, without consultation with me. One page was a picture and the other text.

I was told about the pages off by the first man who used the index. Once he learned to adjust the number for the missing pages he and others found that it worked.

I'm 82, unwell, still trying to do constructive work with what times remains for me so please do not favor me with more such chickenshit.
